- A. The NSBC is committed to an educational environment in which all individuals are treated with respect and dignity. Harassment due to gender, race, religion, or other protected characteristics is both discriminatory and illegal, and will not be tolerated by the NSBC. Therefore, the NSBC expects that all relationships between participants in training will be professional and free of bias, prejudice, and harassment. Complaint procedures and additional information are available by contacting the Executive Director of the National Safe Boating Council.
- B. The NSBC authorizes certified Instructors and Instructor Trainers the use of the NSBC logo and marks with the following qualifications.

Their organization, employer, host, or sponsor may not claim to be “NSBC certified” without an express written agreement in force with the NSBC National Office. Authorization requires written permission from the NSBC Executive Director.
 3. Any use of the NSBC logo and marks comes under the authority of the NSBC’s acceptable use policy. The NSBC reserves the right to selectively withdraw individual use in any portrayal of the NSBC name, logo, and marks that, in the sole opinion of the NSBC, is of an offensive, inappropriate, or unwholesome nature.

- D. The NSBC reserves the right to revoke or suspend a certification for cause when an Instructor or Instructor Trainer's conduct has the potential to be detrimental to the association or its reputation. Any illegal action which occurs during the course of the performance of NSBC instructional duties will be considered sufficient cause for revocation of all certifications. Instructors or Instructor Trainers are expected to follow recreational boating safety best practices and represent the NSBC with integrity and professionalism. Allegations, concerns, and appeals regarding an Instructor or Instructor Trainer's conduct may be presented to the NSBC Executive Director. Any investigation of an Instructor or Instructor Trainer will follow due process and allow full opportunity for rebuttal.
